GATHERING

10,000 Reasons (Bless the Lord)

Jonas Myrin & Matt Redman

1. The sun comes up, it's a new day dawning,
It's time to sing Your song again.
Whatever may pass, and whatever lies before me,
Let me be singing when the evening comes.
2. You're rich in love and You're slow to anger.
Your name is great and Your heart is kind.
For all Your goodness, I will keep on singing;
Ten thousand reasons for my heart to find.
3. And on that day, when my strength is failing,
The end draws near, and my time has come;
Still, my soul will sing Your praise unending
Ten thousand years and then forevermore!

The Good, the Bad and the Heavenly

My Dear Parish Family,

In today's Gospel, Jesus tells us that the kingdom is like the good seed and the bad seed. This reminds me of my Catholic high school religion class when we learned about the ancient Chinese concept of yin and yang. Black and white. Sun and shade. The idea I remember is that without darkness, we cannot know light. Without sadness, we cannot know joy. Without bad, we cannot know good. These seeming opposites are actually complimentary and necessary. Two halves that together complete wholeness.

Interestingly, newborns literally see only black and white. Toddlers learn basic concepts in opposites, up and down, in and out. Young children study patterns to learn basic math concepts. Square, circle, square, circle, square Children see moral issues clearly as black or white until about mid-to-late middle school when they begin to see that life presents gray areas.

If all we had was wheat, we would stop noticing it. It is precisely because of the weeds that we can distinguish the wheat and therefore appreciate it, treasure it, care for it. Our impulse to discard the bad is natural. Jesus said to let them grow together. Presumably, to see one, find favor with one, reject one, choose one, discard one.

With yin and yang, as one part decreases, the other part increases to maintain the overall balance of the whole. I think of the wheat and the weeds in my own life. What can I do to increase the wheat and reduce the weeds? It definitely takes work and intent and patience then more work like a real garden. I wonder if Jesus gave us another yin and yang in Reconciliation and Holy Communion. One removes the bad, kills the weeds and one feeds, nourishes and strengthens us for life in the garden.

God is merciful because we need mercy. God is love because we are lovable. So let's love.

It is all about Jesus' great love for us. How do we live that love? How do we show that love to all we meet?

The kingdom is like ... sharing an ice cream with a grandchild, lingering in conversation at the dinner table, road trips, giggles, smiles shared, picnics, helping and being needed, cool water and warm sand, fresh-cut flowers, comfy cushions, sending and receiving caring messages, movies and music, a crackling fire on a chilly evening, candlelight ... being connected with the people that God has put in our lives and being connected with God. With hearts on fire for God and Jesus by our side, every day is heavenly.

Siempre adelante,

Eve Collier

Spark! at home ~ Have you ever thrown a pebble in a pond of water? Notice how it sends out the ripples throughout the entire pond. It is interesting how one little pebble can affect the whole pond. In this Sunday's Gospel Jesus talks to us in parables that teach us that little things can make a big difference. That means that every good thing that we do, however small, can have tremendous effect when we do it because we love Jesus. How will you change the world this week?

Three:Sixteen at home ~ Last week we learned we are the good soil in which the seed of faith can be planted. Let us think of our recent actions. Have we allowed our good actions to produce good fruit, wheat? Or are we growing weeds of negativity and hurt and harm to self or others? This Sunday's parable, the sower allows the weeds to grow with the wheat, and after the harvest they can safely separate them. Why? Our God is not quick to judge, He will not destroy the harvest because of a few weeds. Even the smallest acts of love and kindness can produce a great bounty.

Making Home Security Routine

One of the major components of a good personal safety program is awareness. You can build awareness habits by following these tips: check surroundings when you leave and return home every day, make sure all doors and windows are locked before leaving home, and keep your car locked when you are in or out of it. To request a copy of the VIRTUS article "Make it a Habit to Practice Home Security Without Looking Like it's a Habit, Part 1," email jvienna@la-archdiocese.org.
